

the go-to resource for all things food, wine and events from Palm Beach to South Beach. We write about and share what is hot, hip and happening!

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 2011

Indian summer wines, from Bodegas Montecillo, Un4Seen, Biltmore Reserve & Ca'Montini

As we transition from the dog days of summer to Indian summer we're drinking more red wine as we grill heavier meats such as steaks versus burgers and continue on with the flavorful barbecue. We're still sipping on white wine for those long hot weekend days at the pool here in South Florida. Below are some of the wines we've particularly enjoyed while hosting those last few backyard summer hurrahs.

The first three wines we are highlighting today are part of the sibling collection from Bodegas Montecillo, Crianza, Reserva and Gran Reserva. All three proved to be a fun tasting and pairing for us as week barbecued one Sunday afternoon. This trio of 100% Tempranillos from Bodegas Montecillo explains in taste the different classifications of Rioja. These classifications mainly have to do with the length of aging of the wine and quality of the grapes.

The Ca' Montini 2010 Pinot Grigio is a pleasant surprise of well balanced fruit and acidity versus the placid, albeit sweet Pinot Grigios' that tend to make up the mainstream Pinot market. Easy and refreshing, this crisp vibrant wine shows off apples and citrus on the nose and palate. Retailers under $15

View my complete profile

LIKE US ON FACEBOOK

